

Digital Supplement - Appendix

Geochemical and isotopic constraints on the petrogenesis of the Cretaceous alkaline Morro Redondo intrusive complex, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil: implications for alkaline magma genesis

Carlos Eduardo Mota<sup>1</sup>, Arthur de Melo Said Fabião Moreira da Silva<sup>2</sup>, Fred Jourdan<sup>3</sup>, Mauro Cesar Geraldés<sup>4</sup>, Guilherme Loriato Potratz<sup>2*</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Geological Survey of Brazil-CPRM, Av. Pasteur, 404, Urca, Rio de Janeiro-RJ, Brazil, CEP 22290-255

<sup>2</sup>Postgraduate Program in Geosciences, Rio de Janeiro State University. Rua São Francisco Xavier, 524, Rio de Janeiro - RJ - CEP: 20550-900

<sup>3</sup>Western Australian Argon Isotope Facility, John de Laeter Centre & School of Earth and Planetary Sciences, Curtin University, Building 301, Australia

<sup>4</sup>Department of Mineralogy and Igneous Petrology. Rio de Janeiro State University. Rua São Francisco Xavier, 524, Rio de Janeiro - RJ - CEP: 20550-900

APPENDIX 1. Map of sample collection points

LEGEND:

1 – Taquaral Complex; 2 – Morro Redondo Complex; 3 – Rezende Formation; 4 – Embu unit; 5 - Alluvial deposits

